Since the fees we receive are asset-based (i.e. based on the value of your account), we have an incentive to increase your account value which creates a conflict especially for those accounts holding illiquid or hard-to-value assets. • Fixed Fees - Payable in arrears. • Wrap Program Fees - Payable quarterly in advance, based on the value of the Program Assets in the account. Asset-based fees associated with a wrap fee program generally include most transaction costs and fees to a broker-dealer or bank that has custody of the assets; therefore, the asset-based fee may be higher than a typical non-wrap asset-based advisory fee. Since our firm pays the transaction costs associated with securities transactions in your account, we have an incentive to minimize the trading in your account; • Third Party Advisory Fees - You will pay advisory fees charged by third party investment advisers, which are separate and in addition to our fees. • Additional Fees - Clients will also pay additional fees and/or expenses associated with mutual funds, ETFs, and/or variable annuities. What are your legal obligations to me when providing recommendations as my broker-dealer or when acting as my investment adviser? How else does your firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?

When we provide you with a recommendation as your broker-dealer or we act as your investment adviser, we have to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they can affect the recommendations and investment advice we provide you. Here are some examples to help you understand what this means.

These persons receive compensation in connection with the purchase and sale of securities, other investment products, and/or insurance products.
